Tuesday 25th November 2025

Dear Parents and Carers,

Only one more sleep until the best event of the year, the School Production! This year the students have been busy preparing their concert items with the theme of 'A Night at the Movies'. Students will travel to Boucher Hall first thing in the morning for rehearsals, leaving by bus at 9:10am sharp. If you have not yet logged into uEducateUs and given permission to travel, please do this today. Students will need their hats, full school uniform, recess, lunch and a water bottle. Tickets are on sale from the office at $5 per ticket or $20 for a family of 2 adults and siblings. Students who attend the school do not need a ticket. Tickets will also be on sale from Boucher Hall from 5:30pm if you have not managed to collect them before then. The concert starts at 6pm tomorrow evening and students are asked to be onsite by 5:40pm. A big thank you to Brad Johnson, Meagan Bradbury and Leah Anderson along with their team for organising this event, this is such a highlight of the school year.

Those parents, staff and friends that came along to the Trivia Night had a fun time with Brian Nankervis. The evening was full of laughter and brain stretching as there were definitely some tricky questions. We enjoyed the evening so much we have decided to make this an annual event so keep a lookout for this in next year's diary.

Staff worked together yesterday on moderating samples of student work and assessments to ensure consistency in judgements from class to class as well as against the Victorian Curriculum Standards. It is pleasing to see our students are achieving consistent growth from the start to end of the year, a testament to their hard work and dedication from their teachers and support staff. Teachers are completing reports for students, and these will become available mid December. Student/Parent and Teacher interviews will be held on Wednesday 17th December so please put this date in your calendar. Interview times can be booked through uEducateUs in the first week of December.

Planning is well underway for the 2026 school year. We have decided upon class structures and are allocating students to classes. Class lists for 2026 will be published on Thursday 11th December prior to the Whole School Transition Day on Monday 15th December.

Have a wonderful week.

News from the eSafety Commissioner

Over the next few weeks we will provide updates on the social media age restrictions that will be put in place from the 10th December 2025. To explore this information in more detail please visit:

Social media age restrictions and your family | eSafety Commissioner

FAQs

In eSafety's consultations about the social media age restrictions, educators agreed that the delay will allow time for building and strengthening digital literacy and resilience in under-16s.

We understand that you, as educators, can play an important role in helping to explain the age restrictions to students and their families, while continuing to support their online safety.

These FAQs will help you address some immediate concerns.

Click or tap on the + to find the answers.

Why the change?

The age restrictions aim to protect under-16s from pressures and risks they can be exposed to while logged in to social media accounts. These come from design features in the platforms that:

- encourage them to spend too much time on screens – for example, by prompting them with streams of notifications and alerts, and pressuring them to view disappearing content
- increase the likelihood of exposure to negative, upsetting or manipulative content served up in their feeds by algorithms.

These features have been linked to harms to health and wellbeing – including increased stress levels, and reduced sleep and concentration.

Of course, they are not the only risks on social media. Young people can also be exposed to harmful conduct such as cyberbullying, being asked for nudes and being sent pornography or violent material.

The age restrictions are a delay, not a ban. You won't have to say 'yes' or 'no' to social media accounts, instead you can say 'not yet', knowing other under-16s are also being prevented from creating or keeping accounts so your child won't be missing out.

The delay gives you extra time to talk about online safety and wellbeing with your child, to help them prepare for the risks and pressures of social media when they turn 16. It's breathing space for them to build digital, social and emotional skills, and to understand the importance of reaching out for help if things go wrong.

What if students or parents want to know about the age restrictions?

You can support young people by referring them to eSafety's information and resources specifically for under-16s. These explain the changes and how they might affect under-16s, provide a get-ready guide that students can fill out, and cover related health and wellbeing issues.

Support for parents and carers can be found in Social media age restrictions and your family. This includes answers to frequently asked questions, as well as tools to prepare for the changes with under-16s, including a get-ready guide and a guide for starting conversations with young people about the social media age restrictions and its impacts.

What will happen to the accounts of under-16s?

If an age-restricted platform suspects or knows that a user is under 16, it should stop them using the account on that platform or creating a new one for it. It is meant to do this in a way that is as safe and supportive as possible, as set out in eSafety's regulatory guidelines.

eSafety has suggested that platforms give clear instructions on how under-16s can download, transfer or access their data, like saving their favourite posts, photos and important contacts.

Some platforms could allow under-16s to just deactivate their accounts, so they can start using them again with all their existing data when they turn 16. But young people shouldn't rely on platforms to provide this option. It's best that they download any data they want to save, including connections, posts, chats, photos and videos – before 10 December.

To find out more about how to prepare, under-16s can:

- visit the 'Help' or 'Support' section on the platform
- check The eSafety Guide for advice on downloading content and protecting their personal information on common platforms, games, apps and sites
- follow the tips in eSafety's Get-ready guide and action plan for under-16s, including how to save their most precious data and content.
